About Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games. These seizures may have a variety of symptoms including: lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects. Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures. The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by sitting farther from the television screen, using a smaller television screen, playing in a well-lit room, and not playing when you are drowsy or fatigued. If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

Other Important Health and Safety Information

The Xbox Instruction Manual contains important safety and health information that you should read and understand before using this software.

Avoid Damage to Your Television

Do not use with certain televisions. Some televisions, especially front- or rear-projection types, can be damaged if any video games, including Xbox games, are played on them. Static images presented during the normal course of game play may "burn in" to the screen, causing a permanent shadow of the static image to appear at all times, even when video games are not being played. Similar damage may occur from static images created when placing a video game on hold or pause. Consult your television owner's manual to determine if video games can be safely played safely on your set. If you are unable to find this information in the owner's manual, contact your television dealer or the manufacturer to determine if video games can be played safely on your set.

Unauthorized copying, reverse engineering, transmission, public performance, rental, pay for play, or circumvention of copy protection is strictly prohibited.

What is the UFC?

The Ultimate Fighting Championship (UFC) is a sport that brings together the world's most talented Mixed Martial Arts (MMA) athletes. The UFC was created in 1993 as a made for pay-per-view spectacle to garner worldwide attention. There never was a plan to proceed beyond one or two shows. The idea was to bring together champions of various martial arts and Olympic sports, such as karate, jiu-jitsu, boxing, kickboxing, wrestling, sumo and other disciplines to determine which style would be most successful in a tournament. International support for the event was enormous. What began as a mere spectacle was transformed into one of the world's most entertaining sporting events. Over the course of its eight-year existence and more than 35 events, the UFC has become the premier mixed martial arts event in the world, featuring competitors of multiple disciplines in a quest to become an ultimate fighting champion.

The Game

UFC: Tapout is a realistic fighting game that places the player in The Octagon to compete in Mixed Martial Arts competition. This is not your average fighting game. There is no magic. No fireballs. No weapons. No twenty-hit combos. There are only two fighters inside a cage, fighting to determine who will be victorious.

UFC is Real Fighters. Real Fighting.

Positions

Mixed Martial Arts employs a number of different positions from which the fighter may deliver attacks, or attempt submissions to make the other fighter tapout. Each position offers a variety of advantages or disadvantages and which position a particular fighter is most effective in is highly dependent on his training and style. These positions are characterized as follows:

Standing

Both opponents are standing. From this position, a variety of strikes can be launched or a fighter may shoot to move to a guard or mount position. This is a position in which boxers, kickboxers and similar striking artists do their work.

Advantage

Able to avoid submission attempts and force a competition of strikes. Blocking can be very effective.

Disadvantage

Unable to utilize submissions. More open to strikes and damage.

The Guard

The guard position is characterized by the fighter on the bottom having his legs above the fighter's waist. The closed variation of this position means that both legs are completely extended beyond the waist, often locked behind the above fighter so that he cannot move to the full mount (see below). The lower position is very popular for Jiu-Jitsu practitioners, particularly Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu, since it allows for a variety of submissions including triangle chokes and armbars.

Lower Guard

Advantage

Able to attempt submissions if trained as such. Position is strategic since it allows for a quicker escape to standing as well as preventing a full mount.

Disadvantage

Blocking does not prevent 100% of damage. Unable to throw strong strikes.

Upper Guard

Advantage

Strikes are effective. Can attempt submissions or move to full mount.

Disadvantage

Difficult to move to stand-up quickly. Limited submissions available.

The Full Mount

This position is characterized by the above fighter completely straddling the lower fighter's body above or around the waist. From this position, the above fighter may sit up to deliver a variety of devastating strikes to the lower fighter. The upper position is the favored position of "ground and pound" stylists.

Lower Full Mount

Advantage

Very few advantages, although some fighters may be able to attempt a submission if properly trained.

Disadvantage

Highly susceptible to damage whether blocking or not. Open for a wide range of submissions. Difficult to escape from ground positioning.

Upper Full Mount

Advantage

Strikes are very effective ("ground and pound" strategy works well from this position). Large variety of submissions available. Easy to escape to standing position.

Disadvantage

No kicks available for strategic striking. Susceptible to submissions from good ground fighters.

The Back Mount

This is the most dominating position in grappling. From the upper position, the fighter is able to throw a number of strikes and submission attempts with few repercussions. As for the lower position, this is something that every fighter would be best to avoid.

Lower Back Mount

Advantage

Nearly no advantages, although a few fighters may be able to attempt some sort of submission if the opportunity arises.

Disadvantage

Very susceptible to damaging strikes and a vast array of submissions, including chokes.

Upper Back Mount

Advantage

May freely attack opponent with little chance of submission or counter attack from most fighters.

Disadvantage

Difficult to get into position with most fighters. With the best ground fighters, this can still be a dangerous position when dealing with submissions.

Controls

Every fighter has a different set of abilities and moves based upon his fighting style. Some fighters have a variety of moves from all positions, while some are more dominant in one position than another. Due to this, this control list is more of a guide and not completely universal for all fighters. For instance, some fighters will have a number of submission abilities from the lower guard position, while other fighters will have none, and so on. What follows is a general guide to learn the abilities of any individual fighter.

Modes of Play

Arcade

Upon entering this mode, you will be able to choose a fighter. You will then fight a series of opponents, one after another to advance. If you defeat every opponent who challenges you, you will become a champion of the UFC.

UFC Mode

UFC Mode is based upon the eight man tournaments that UFC would hold early in its history. When starting in this mode, you must first choose the weight class in which you wish to compete. The weight classes are divided as follows:

- Heavyweight - For fighters that weigh 205 pounds or above.
- Light Heavyweight - This not only includes the Light Heavyweights (185-204.9 lbs.), but also any fighter that weighs below 205 pounds. This includes middleweight (170-184.9 lbs.), Welterweight (155-169.9 lbs.), and Lightweight (145-154.9 lbs.) fighters in addition to the normal Light Heavyweights.
- Open Weight - This class has no weight classes. Fighters of all weights are available here.

Once you have chosen a weight class, you will be brought to a fighter selection screen in which you are able to choose an actual UFC fighter or you may load one of your created Fighters of the appropriate weight class.

When the tournament begins, you will have to fight a total of three fights. Health will only recover slightly between the fights, so be careful not to wear yourself too thin. If you win the tournament, you will win the belt for that character.

Create Fighter

In this mode, you are able to create a customized fighter for use in the game. There are hundreds of different combinations available to you so that you will be able to create yourself, a friend, or even attempt to recreate some of your favorite fighters of all time. After choosing Create Fighter from the main menu, you will be presented with the following options:

Name Entry - Here you can enter the first and last name for your fighter.

Nickname - Here you can choose from over 80 different nicknames. This is the name that Bruce Buffer will announce when you enter into The Octagon.

Profile - This is where you determine the vital statistics of your character.

Weight - Choose a weight between 100 and 399 lbs.

Height - Choose a height between 5 and 7 feet.

Age - Choose an age between 18 and 50.

Country - Choose the country that your fighter is from, ranging from Angola to Vietnam.

Hometown - Enter your fighter's hometown.

Strengths - Choose three strengths that represent your fighter. There are over 80 to choose from.

Face - This will determine your character's face, as well as his skin color and hair color. There are 120 different faces to choose from, ranging across all hair colors, skin colors, and facial hair.

Clothing - There are 50 different clothing configurations for your fighter. Choose which configuration you'd like for your fighter.

Voice - Choose one of 8 different voices.

Discipline - Now, it's time to choose your fighter's discipline (or the martial art that he predominantly practices). All of the disciplines contain a variety of standing and ground fighting techniques, although some styles may favor one over the other. The offerings available are:

- | | |
|-------------------|---------------|
| • Jiu Jitsu | • Kickboxing |
| • Street Fighting | • Muay Thai |
| • Wrestling | • Karate |
| • Sumo | • Tae Kwon Do |
| • Shootfighting | • Capoeira |
| • Pro Wrestling | |

Finally, after you've determined the physical traits of your character, you can focus on his skills. Be sure your character looks the way you'd like though, because you won't be able to change it later.

From this new menu, there are a variety of choices. The most important is Skill Up...without Skilling Up, your fighter won't stand a chance in The Octagon. You will have 480 points to distribute across 4 attributes. These attributes are:

Life - The amount of life that your character has. This will determine how many strikes he can take before he's done for.

Stamina - How quickly your character recovers from throwing a flurry of punches or some of the less lingering affects of a strike.

Punch Skill - The power and intensity of your character's strikes thrown from the hands, arms, or elbows.

Kick Skill - The power and intensity of your character's strikes thrown from the legs, feet, or knees.

In addition, you may view your character's settings, moves, and choose to save him or load a different character. Once a character is saved, you may return back at any time to change his distribution of skill points to determine the combination that is best for your character.

Exhibition

This is a single fight between two fighters and can either be played single player or two player. Between each fight, the players will be able to select a fighter. There are no weight classes in this mode, so all fighters will be available. This mode also keeps track of wins and losses for each player, so that friends can compete to see who is the best.

Tournament

Tournament mode allows 8 players to participate in a UFC multi-fight tournament. This is similar to UFC mode, but allows each fighter to either be played by a human player or by a computer player, according to the players' wishes. The format is similar to the 8 man elimination tournaments held early in UFC's history. The player who is able to win all 3 fights will be the winner.

The only losses of his career were to Guy Mezger and Frank Shamrock. Later, in a rematch with Mezger, Tito pounded his way to victory, proving to the world that he was here to stay. Randleman has established himself as a contender for the Light Heavyweight title with the wins he garnered as a Heavyweight, against such greats as Pedro Rizzo, Maurice Smith and Pete Williams.

Having established himself as a submissions master during his reign as Middleweight Champion, it has become apparent that he now also has a formidable standing ability to be reckoned with. UFC Record: 4-1-0

Evan Tanner is an impressive fighter who is known for his powerful knees and leg kicks and his very good ground ability. He is the owner of the USWF (United Shoot Wrestling Federation) as well as its current Heavyweight Champion. In the UFC, he amassed a 3-0 record which gave him a shot at the Middleweight Championship (now Light Heavyweight) against Tito Ortiz. In an unfortunate turn, a body slam knocked Evan Tanner out and ended the fight. He is back in full force however, determined to get another chance at the title.

His MMA record is an impressive 5-1 and his Pancrase style record currently stands at 21-2. He is a definite contender for the Light Heavyweight belt and assuredly, his next meeting with Ortiz will not end like the last one.

Mikey Burnett: "The Eastside Assassin"

Discipline: Submission Fighting

Height: 5'6"

Weight: 169 lbs.

Age: 28

UFC Record: 2-1-0

Mikey is a Lion's Den fighter who fights out of Tulsa, Oklahoma. He is an accomplished boxer and wrestler, known for his rounded fighting style, which includes equal amounts of stand-up and ground technique. Mikey fought for the Lightweight (now Welterweight) title at Ultimate Brazil in 1998, losing to Pat Miletich by decision. He fought for the last time in UFC at UFC 18. Even though Mikey has not fought in a Mixed Martial Arts competition for some years, it is rumored that he will be making his way back to The Octagon again and this time he intends to win the Welterweight title.

Matt Hughes

Discipline: Miletich Fighting Systems

Height: 5'9"

Weight: 169 lbs.

Age: 28

UFC Record: 3-1-0

Matt Hughes is a pupil of Pat Miletich and his fighting system. He is a submission expert who, although seeming to prefer ground fighting, is able to hold himself equally well while standing up. Hughes is consistently ranked among the top ten Welterweights in the world and recently became the new Welterweight Champion by defeating Carlos Newton, bringing his mixed martial arts record to 23-3-0.

Pat Miletich: "The Croatian Sensation"

Discipline: Miletich Fighting Systems

Height: 5'10"

Weight: 169 lbs.

Age: 33

UFC Record: 8-1-0

Pat Miletich is considered to be one of the best Welterweights of the world. In the UFC, he had an undefeated record until suffering his first loss to Carlos Newton at UFC 31. Determined to show that he is still a champion and that Newton simply got "lucky," he's now back on track to regain his former Welterweight title. And from the looks of it, it appears that it won't be long at all until he steps back into The Octagon to stake his claim on the Welterweight belt.

Jens Pulver: "Little Evil"

Discipline: Miletich Fighting Systems

Height: 5'7"

Weight: 154 lbs.

Age: 26

UFC Record: 5-0-1

Jens Pulver is the current Lightweight Champion of the UFC. He is an impressive striker, with incredible takedown defense, who has also proven to be equally comfortable on the ground. He is a star pupil of Pat Miletich and dominates his division with a smart ability and striking accuracy not often seen. Pulver is 9-1-1 in Mixed Martial Arts, and undefeated in The Octagon. He has established himself as the man to beat in the Lightweight division and intends to remain exactly where he is.

Caol Uno

Discipline: Wajutsu / Wrestling

Height: 5'7"

Weight: 154 lbs.

Age: 26

UFC Record: 1-2-0

Prior to Uno's bout with Pulver at UFC 30, he was considered to be the number one Lightweight fighter in the world. Despite his loss to Pulver for the UFC Lightweight Championship, he is still the top contender for the Lightweight belt. Known for his impeccable ground fighting and his constant cool in the ring, he is a formidable fighter, capable of both submissions and ground & pound strategies. His incredible abilities made him a world champion in Shooto and hopefully will one day win him the Lightweight belt in the UFC. Uno is quickly becoming a fixture in the UFC Lightweight division.

Caol Uno / Special Moves

1. Left Step/Striking: A - Lay down (believe it or not), any attack button to get up and strike opponent
2. Front Step/Grappling: X + A - Low Kick catch to mount
3. Standing/Striking: Y, B, A - Combo
